

PORTAS PILOTS ROUND 2

Prospectus: an invitation to become a Town Team

Ministerial Foreword

I was delighted to be asked by the Prime Minister to take forward the Government's response to the excellent, independent review into the future of the High Street that Mary Portas carried out last year. It's an issue close to my heart, not only as a former shopkeeper, but also because it contributes to our agenda of supporting local shops and local jobs.

Mary set out her vision that "the High Streets of the future should be multi-functional and social places bustling with people, services and jobs which offer a clear and compelling purpose and experience that's not available elsewhere, and which meets the interests and needs of the local people". She suggests that "Town Teams" be put in place to provide a visionary and strategic operational management structure for high streets; and we expect Town Teams to be at the heart of pilot bids.

We are therefore inviting places to bid to become one of the pilots by 30 June 2012.

I hope you are as excited as I am by this opportunity, and that you will want to get involved.

GRANT SHAPPS MP

Introduction

High streets are a visible indicator of how well a local community and economy is doing. They are recognised as important hubs of social interaction and cohesion, as well as providers of employment and local commerce.

The Portas Review (available at www.communities.gov.uk/portasreview) made a number of key recommendations aimed at identifying what government, local authorities, businesses and communities could do together to promote the development of new models of prosperous and diverse high streets. The Government has published its response to the Review today <http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/regeneration/portasreviewresponse> We accepted the recommendation to “Run a number of High Street Pilots to test proof of concept”, and we expect areas to take forward the recommendation to “put in place a “Town Team” as a central part of their pilot bid.

The purpose of the pilots is to test the ideas in the Portas Review and provide an opportunity for local partnerships to develop and share knowledge about the effectiveness of various options for high street improvement.

The Government’s response to the Portas Review lays down a challenge for local partners to re-imagine their town centres and high streets, ensuring they offer something new and different that neither out-of-town shopping centres nor the internet can match – an experience that goes beyond retail, with creative use of public spaces and a vibrant evening economy.

The response also announces a competition to select a further 12 pilots.

Pilots

1. We invite applications by 30 June 2012 from local partnerships and consortiums for grant funding under the Department for Communities and Local Government's (DCLG) Portas Review pilot scheme.
2. We are looking to support twelve pilots with funding of up to £100,000 for each, depending on the amount sought by and our assessment of individual bids. They will be awarded to partnerships in England that demonstrate the best fit with the selection criteria. This will be paid through s31 unringfenced revenue grant, paid directly to the relevant local authority under the Local Government Act 2003. Each partnership will, therefore, need to identify an Accountable Body (local authority) to receive the grant, if they are not, themselves, a local authority¹. We expect local authorities in receipt of grant to work constructively with their communities, through their Town Team, in using funding. We will also be looking to provide other, non-financial support for the pilots.
3. The grant is revenue funding for 2012/13. However it does not need to be spent in the same financial year, although Government is looking for momentum to be maintained.
4. Applications must be made using the template at Annex A (which is available in Word form on the DCLG website). Applicants must be able to demonstrate the following:

Town Teams

5. A key focus for the pilots is the proposal for a "Town Team" (as described on page 19 of the Portas Review) that will be able to drive innovation and improvement in the way the current high street is managed, develop a strategic and collaborative approach, be made up of a wide range of local interests including landlords, retailers, local authorities and local communities.
6. Every high street is unique and will have different issues and priorities so we do not want to specify what ideas they want to explore or take forward. Nor do we want to limit pilots to testing proposals in the Portas Review. Each pilot will be free to determine its own priorities.
7. Selection of the pilots will be based on the following criteria:

Strong Leadership

8. We are looking for pilots areas with a transformational vision for their high street and the backing to make it a reality. The lead partner should be able to clearly articulate this vision and demonstrate strong support for it from the local community and a wide range of local partners.

¹ Eligibility criteria as a "local Authority" can be found at: <http://www.legislation.gov.uk/ukpga/2003/26/section/33>

Mix

9. We want the pilot areas as a whole to represent high streets and town centres or smaller parades of shops, including market towns, villages, large towns, new towns, coastal towns and suburban areas. We encourage everyone to apply and we will select pilots to ensure sufficient diversity to understand the effectiveness of the Town Team approach and how high streets can be improved in different settings. We want to ensure a good geographical spread, as well as areas with both high and low average income levels and high and low empty shops vacancy rates.

Commitment

10. We are looking for pilot bids to demonstrate maximum commitment to the Town Team approach amongst retailers, landlords, the local authority and the local community. Commitment could be demonstrated by local businesses match funding investment in the area, or by a high proportion of landlords and businesses becoming part of the Town Team.

Potential for improvement

11. Resources will be allocated on a value for money basis. Therefore, areas must be able to demonstrate the potential for improvement. For example, bidders should provide information on current vacancy rates in the high street and any other information that demonstrates need and potential.

Innovation

12. Bidders are asked to provide a very brief outline of what the key priorities for the pilot will be. We are looking for the most innovative ideas that will have maximum impact and could be replicated elsewhere.

How to apply

13. We have sought to make the application process as simple as possible, while ensuring decisions on applications will be fair, transparent, and soundly based, having regard only to the information and any relevant material supplied by the applicant. Applicants must also provide a video supporting the submission setting out why your pilot should be chosen. Videos should be 2-3 minutes long, to the point, and, most importantly, not professionally made.
14. All applications must be received on or before 30 June 2012, and must conform to the requirements set out below, and include a short video submission in support of your application.

Information required

15. Please complete the application form at Annex A, which ensures we are able to understand:

- Who will lead your pilot
- Which local authority will be the Accountable Body. Local Authorities may support more than one bid and must provide a confirmation letter and accompanying statement on securing value for money for taxpayers in the use of the grant)
- How your partnership proposes to use the grant
- An outline of the key priorities for your pilot
- How your pilot meets the criteria, demonstrates its suitability for funding, and meets the need for additional impact
- How your pilot will deliver transparency in the use of the grant

16. We want to evaluate and develop a toolkit based on the outcomes of the pilots, and we will expect successful partnerships to take part in this process.

17. Proposals should be submitted electronically to the following address: portasreviewpilots@communities.gsi.gov.uk. Please compress if submitting significant supporting documentation.

18. Letters from organisations and individuals supporting your application may be sent to Department for Communities and Local Government's (DCLG) Portas Review Pilot Scheme, 3G/9 23 Bressenden Place, London SW15DU

19. We will assess applications with a view to announcing the successful bids in the Summer. If you have any questions about the process, please e-mail portasreviewpilots@communities.gsi.gov.uk.
