Dear

Thank you for your correspondence dated 20 March 2011 which has been considered to be a request for information in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act 2000. Your request has been passed to my department and I have been asked to respond.

You requested the following information:

"Please could you send me a list of the number of recruits whom signed up for each armed force per recruitment centre in the United Kingdom and then went on to successfully complete their training and signed a contract with their respective armed force.?"

I have attached tables in a separate excel spreadsheet which cover the recruitment statistics from the Army Career Information Offices (ACIO) and Armed Forces Career Offices (AFCO) and OCLC (Officers Careers Liaison Centres) for the United Kingdom broken down by Service. These figures represent all recruits who took their attestation (this is the military equivalent of signing a contract) and started their basic training. This information will not provide a comprehensive picture of the geographical spread of recruitment as it does not identify those who may have chosen to join through their nearest AFCOs or through other means, such as the internet.

I am unable to provide information on the number of recruits from each office who successfully completed their training as this information is not held in the format you have requested.

With regards signing their contracts, for the Royal Navy and Royal Marines (RM), when fully eligible the Ratings and RM other ranks are sent a provisional offer of service, they then sign a reply slip stating that they intend to take up the offer. They are then sent joining instructions. On arrival at the New Entry Establishment they then sign the Notice Form for Entry into the Naval Service in the presence of the Recruiting Officer (who then attests that they have signed). The Army and Royal Air Force other ranks make their attestation once they have arrived at their basic training unit.

Officer entrants to the Royal Navy do not sign an attestation but are sent an offer letter which they acknowledge receipt of confirming they wish to join. Army and Royal Air Force Officer Cadets are attested on arrival at the unit where they will complete their initial officer training.

I have also provided a link to the Defence Analytical Services and Advice (DASA) website. They collate and publish figures on the intake to the regular forces from civil life by Service and gender which I thought may be of some help.

I hope you find this information helpful.

Yours sincerely
